

Greetings from CPA President, E. Kevin Kelloway, PhD.

June 9 – 11, 2016

Dear Colleagues;

As President of the Canadian Psychological Association is my great pleasure to welcome you to Victoria and the 77th annual convention of the association. The annual meeting of CPA is our time to reconnect with colleagues, hear about new research findings and participate in lively discussions.

As you will note, the convention format has been redesigned. Some new features have been introduced and other, more longstanding, features of the convention have been refreshed. Our convention staff and planning committee have worked hard to respond to feedback from previous conventions in order to make this year's meeting in Victoria the best ever.

Despite a packed agenda – do try to make some time to see the lovely city of Victoria. And don't forget to attend the Annual General Meeting (AGM) of the association where we will be announcing an expansion of our member benefits.

Enjoy the conference!

Sincerely,

E. Kevin Kelloway, PhD.
President
