

Adler University, Vancouver Campus

Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology & Master of Counselling Psychology Degree Programs

Position Title: Full-time Core Faculty

Position Description

The successful candidate will be reporting to the Program Director of the aforementioned programs. The full-time core faculty positions are designed around a four-day week contract. There are two possible start dates: May 2019 or September 2019. The Core Faculty position involves:

- providing instruction for courses in the two counselling psychology programs (i.e., Master of Arts in Counselling Psychology and Master of Counselling Psychology).
- supporting student learning and outcome measurements.
- supervising student thesis projects.
- engaging in committee work.
- providing clinical supervision to students on practicum.
- participating in program development (including attendance at monthly Faculty Council and weekly Program Meetings on campus).
- student academic advising.

Education and Experience

- A doctoral-level degree in Counselling Psychology or Counsellor Education from a recognized program accredited by CPA, APA, or equivalent.
- Registered Clinical Counsellor (RCC) with British Columbia Association of Clinical Counsellors, Canadian Clinical Counsellor (CCC) with the Canadian Counsellor and Psychotherapist Association, or Psychologist Registration (or registration eligibility) with the College of Psychologists of British Columbia, is a requirement.
- A record of scholarship related to Counselling Psychology or Counsellor Education.
- Experience with counselling in diverse cultural contexts would be an asset. Experience counselling and supervising in one of the prevalent languages found in the Greater Vancouver area would be an asset (e.g., Cantonese, Mandarin, Hindi, Punjabi, or Spanish).
- Experience working and supervising in the one of the following areas would be an asset: children and youth counselling, trauma counselling, multicultural counselling, or teletherapy/e-counselling.
- Experience in program development and community liaising are an asset.

Essential Skills and Abilities

- A passion for and strong record of teaching, clinical work, clinical supervision, and thesis supervision experience at the graduate level.
- A strong record of participation in training activities, including provision of clinical supervision to trainees.

- Knowledge of several theoretical orientations in order to supervise students during their clinical practicum.
- Commitment to training counsellors to work with marginalized and underserved populations, in keeping with the Adler University's emphasis on social justice and socially responsible practice.
- Strong skills in networking, creating and maintaining relationships, problem solving, and diplomacy.

Candidates who are not already Registered Psychologists may be required to pass a pre-employment background check.

Applicants should submit a curriculum vitae and a letter of interest to:

Dr. Asa-Sophia Maglio, Program Director

Adler University, Vancouver campus

315-520 Seymour Street

Vancouver, BC, Unceded Coast Salish territories

Email: amaglio@adler.edu

Website: www.adler.edu

Application deadline: March 15, 2019

Adler University is an independent, not-for-profit graduate school with campuses in Chicago and Vancouver that has been providing education and training in mental health since 1952. The Adler University is committed to employment equity and welcomes applications from people of Aboriginal ancestry, women, members of non-dominant groups, including people with disabilities.