

NOW HIRING

Clinical Psychologist, Outpatient Mental Health careers.fraserhealth.ca

Are you looking for a meaningful and rewarding position? Where you can engage all your skills?

Do you work well in a respectful and collaborative environment where you have both autonomy and collegial and managerial support?

If so consider joining our young and forward thinking multidisciplinary team as the program lead for the cognitive behaviour training of UBC psychiatry residents at the Royal Columbian Hospital.

You will be responsible for guiding and supervising intelligent and self-directed psychiatry residents in individual and group therapy, primarily in their second and fourth years of specialization. You may also be part of the training and supervising of psychology interns.

Depending on your interest and skills you may be involved with instructing and directing residents in Interpersonal Therapy, Dialectic Behavioural Therapy and Psychodynamic Therapy.

You will have the opportunity to engage in ongoing clinical work and research.

You will be able to put your unique stamp on the training program in terms of structure and future development. All of this in a beautiful brand new building.

If any of this aligns with your experience and interests please apply online at: <https://careers.fraserhealth.ca/search-jobs/posting-details/?posting=1174307E>
