

VANCOUVER ISLAND UNIVERSITY

Work where you matter. Ideally situated on Mid-Vancouver Island with spectacular views of the coastal mountains, Vancouver Island University is a comprehensive teaching university with approximately 15,000 students across four campuses.

VIU proudly fosters student success, strong community connections and collaborations by providing access to a wide range of programs, from academic undergraduate and master's to industry-responsive trades and vocational training. VIU is particularly proud of its role in Aboriginal education and is dedicated to advancing student success in this area.

When you join our campus community, you will work with supportive colleagues within an encouraging environment, all while you enjoy the pace and quality of life on beautiful Vancouver Island. Make the move to matter here, we are accepting applications for a permanent Psychology Professor (2 positions available: one full- and one half-time).

We invite applications from accomplished university educators seeking to join a collegial department where teaching innovation and student success are highly valued. We seek applicants who share our passion for high quality undergraduate education and can skillfully infuse their teaching with their scholarly work. The successful candidates will mentor students in research and scholarly activity.

Area(s) of specialization you'll need to be successful in this position include: clinical psychology, life-span development and/or addictions with priority given to candidates with expertise in clinical child psychology. The teaching responsibilities of the successful candidates may include courses in clinical psychology, life-span development and/or addictions. The successful candidates must contribute to the governance, events, and service activity of the department.

Required Qualifications:

- A PhD or equivalent in psychology from an APA or CPA accredited institution. Clinicians must be eligible for registration with the BC College of Psychologists.
- Recent experience and demonstrated excellence in teaching a wide range of psychology courses.
