

Employment Opportunities

Through our Whitehorse campus and 12 community campuses across the territory, Yukon College partners with the 14 Yukon First Nations in all that we do. This May we will transition to Yukon University—the first university in Canada’s North! YukonU will be a hybrid institution, offering degree, diploma and certificate programming across a multitude of disciplines, including trades and university prep coursework. Research is a significant component of Yukon College as well; we've achieved top spot for the number of paid student researchers, as compared to similar-sized institutions. Come join us as we continue to build the North. Together we thrive!

Permanent Part-time Position from: July 2, 2020

Salary: $40.49 to $48.20 per hour

Based on 56.25 hours bi-weekly (75% of full-time)

Competition #: 20.03

Initial Review Date: February 3, 2020

Yukon College’s School of Liberal Arts is looking for a student-centered scholar with a commitment to Indigenization and reconciliation in education and a passion for interdisciplinary collaboration.

This position is responsible for developing and teaching Psychology courses, conducting research and scholarly activity, and engaging in institutional service. The incumbent will also be involved in the development of the College’s next independently offered degree program and will be expected to help develop curriculum to support it.

The successful candidate will have a doctorate or master’s degree in Psychology or a closely related field, with preference being given to those with a completed or near-completed PhD, and previous scholarly activity and teaching experience in Psychology. Ideally, applicants should also have experience teaching in the following contexts: to adult learners, in northern and/or remote communities, via distance-delivery technologies, and to diverse groups of International students. The ability to teach Criminology will be considered an asset.

Yukon College is committed to the values of equity, diversity and inclusion. All qualified persons are encouraged to apply; however, qualified scholars who self-identify as Yukon First Nations, other First nations, Métis, Inuit, or other Indigenous ancestry will be given priority. While we thank all candidates for their interest, only those shortlisted will be contacted.
