

Burnaby | Brentwood Counselling Centre | Part-time Psychologist with Potential for Full-time

Brentwood Counselling Centre is an equal opportunity employer that values diversity and inclusivity in the workplace. It has been providing exceptional psychotherapy service to the community for over 20 years. The practice is located in a beautiful new professional office in the heart of North Burnaby. You will be part of a team of experienced therapists and interns serving youth, adults, couples, families, and seniors from diverse backgrounds and socio-economic contexts. This is an excellent opportunity to join a solid practice and expand your skills with a dedicated and highly competent team. The ideal candidate is someone who is interested in a long-term career at this practice. This is a part-time counselling position starting 1-2 days per week with potential to grow into full-time.

Start Date: As soon as possible

Duties and Responsibilities:

- Provide evidence-based psychotherapy to a diverse clientele including youth, adults, and couples
- Work independently and as part of a clinical team
- Demonstrate strong ethical and diversity awareness
- Participate in ongoing professional development, supervision, and staff meetings
- Be flexible to work 1-2 evenings per week in addition to daytime hours; weekend availability is an asset

Qualifications:

- Registered Psychologist in good standing
- Psychotherapy experience with diverse populations and a range of therapeutic issues
- Experience and interest in couples counselling
- Valid professional liability insurance
- Strong communication skills—written, verbal, and interpersonal
- Good knowledge of community resources
- Fluency in a second language is an asset

Closing Date: July 15, 2020 or until position is filled
