Child and Adolescent Eating Disorders - Mental Health Care Program

The Child and Adolescent Eating Disorders Service provides assessment, consultation, outpatient treatment, and intensive treatment for children and adolescents living with eating disorders. The primary treatment modality is family-based treatment. In this position, you will work on an interprofessional team that is comprised of a dietitian, a social worker, nurses, Child and Youth Care workers, a pediatrician, and psychiatrists. The psychologist’s responsibilities include: psychological assessment, diagnosis, and providing treatment to children and adolescents with eating disorders; program development and evaluation; education and training; and patient-centered supervision to our staff and students. The position also includes supervision of psychology residents in our accredited psychology residency program. There is also the potential for adjunct faculty appointment with the Department of Psychology at Western University. The team is dedicated to improving our service and the treatment of eating disorders more generally; as such, the successful candidate will supervise the psychometrist to oversee program evaluation and research activities. Psychologists who are particularly interested in family-based treatment for eating disorders and ensuring that care is consistent with empirically supported treatments would be very well suited to the position. Supervision and support is available for new graduates who are required to become registered with the College of Psychologists of Ontario.

Our team is passionate and excited about the work we do and are eager to welcome a new team member.

LHSC is willing to contribute in the relocation expenses of successful candidates
