Thompson Rivers University (https://www.tru.ca) is a uniquely comprehensive, student-focused institution built on over 40 years of excellence in post-secondary education and training. TRU's spectacular main campus is located in Kamloops, BC (https://www.kamloops.ca), just a four hour drive from Vancouver, in the heart of the southern BC interior. Kamloops offers world class tourism and recreation, excellent cultural, social, and economic opportunities, as well as over 2,000 hours of sunshine annually.

The Department of Psychology is a thriving department that offers a BA with a Major or Minor, and an Honours program. Innovative teaching and faculty-student interactions are highly valued and are a draw for many students and faculty.

We are excited to be building our capacity for programming in counselling psychology and invite applications for a full-time tenure-track Assistant Teaching Professor in Counselling or Clinical Psychology. This is a teaching intensive position (teaching/service). The position is dependent on budgetary approval. The appointment is scheduled to commence on July 1, 2022.

The successful candidate will typically teach eight undergraduate sections across the academic year, in counselling/clinical psychology, including theories of counselling/psychotherapy and counselling skills. The candidate may also teach or develop other upper level courses according to their area of expertise (for example, psychological assessment, community psychology, forensic psychology, and/or other courses). Training as a scientist-practitioner with the ability to teach quantitative research methods would be an asset. The successful candidate would also work with other faculty members and community partners to develop a new credential in the area of mental health/counselling.

Applicants should demonstrate an ability to engage diverse student populations and to bring a lens of equity and inclusion to their teaching. The successful candidate will be committed to reflective and scholarly teaching practices, with a passion for teaching and the potential to be an outstanding teacher. The successful candidate will contribute to sustaining the collegiality and reputation of the department, with service responsibilities to support Departmental initiatives initially, and expanding to include activities to support Divisional and Institutional objectives. Candidates are asked to describe/demonstrate their approach to considering equity, diversity, and inclusion in their teaching and service in their application.

Deadline: The committee will begin reviewing applications on April 15, 2022, but will continue to accept applications until the position is filled.

QUALIFICATIONS

Applicants should hold a PhD in Counselling Psychology or Clinical Psychology (CPA accredited and/or candidate is eligible for registration with BC College of Psychologists preferred) obtained by July 1, 2022. Candidates with a PhD in another area should demonstrate equivalence in training and experience. Candidates should also have a demonstrated ability or potential ability for teaching excellence.

Interested candidates should submit the following:?
1. Current CV;

1. A statement of teaching philosophy (up to 2 pages), including a statement on equity, diversity, and inclusivity in their teaching, as well as reflective and scholarly teaching practices;

1. List of courses taught and list of courses willing to teach? (in order of priority/preference), including any courses that may be new to our department; and

1. Complete contact information for three professional references.

Thompson Rivers University is strongly committed to fostering a diverse and inclusive community. We welcome those who would contribute to the further diversification of our staff, our faculty and its scholarship including, but not limited to Indigenous, Black and People of Color, persons with disabilities and persons of any sexual orientation or gender identity. This hire is part of the Psychology Department's commitment to increasing representation by BIPOC faculty in the department, in recognition of historic underrepresentation of non-White faculty in higher education in Canada. Please note that all qualified candidates are encouraged to apply, however applications from Canadians and permanent residents will be given priority.
