

Broadview Psychology

889 Broadview Avenue, Toronto, ON M4K 2P9

6072 Main Street, Stouffville, ON, L4A 4H8

(647) 348-5140 www.broadviewpsychology.com

Broadview Psychology is currently seeking a psychologist to join our comprehensive and compassionate practice. We are a team of mental health professionals who offer assessments and treatment to clients across the lifespan. We are looking for a psychologist to be part of our strong team of clinicians who work closely together providing comprehensive and adherent DBT, as well as providing CBT, ACT and EFT services. We are a clinic that emphasizes evidence-based treatment, training, and consultation/supervision so that we can deliver high quality treatment. We engage in extensive program evaluation to ensure that we are offering effective services and we are continually enhancing our services. We highly value working collaboratively as a team with each other, and with our clients and their families.

Qualifications:

- Doctoral degree in psychology
- Registration with the CPO (or eligible for registration)
- Competency in working with adolescents and/or families would be an asset.
- Training and experience in treating a range of mental health issues, including emotional and behavioural dysregulation, eating disorders, substance use disorders, and PTSD
- Training and experience in conducting DBT and openness to becoming DBT Certified
- Willingness and passion to provide a leadership role within the clinic.

Hours: Flexible schedule with a minimum of three days per week including some evening or weekend hours.

Location: Hybrid – in person (Toronto or Stouffville) and virtual

Benefits of joining the Broadview Psychology Team:

- Participation in an established and comprehensive DBT practice that works with clients across the life span
- Participation in weekly multi-disciplinary DBT consultation team meetings that provide education, stimulation, consultation and support
- Extensive opportunities and support for continuing education
- Opportunity to be involved in a range of activities including assessment, intervention, groups, parent/family/couple therapy, program evaluation, supervision/consultation, program development, workshops, training, and EDI initiatives
- Opportunity to grow, develop and take on new roles in the practice
- Considerable administrative and practical support from our supportive admin team
- Hybrid and flexible working arrangement, including multiple options for in-person therapy sessions
- Involvement in events and activities that enhance the team's cohesiveness and connection

Contact: Interested psychologists should contact Broadview admin at admin@broadviewpsychology.com. Please include a cover letter and CV.

For more information about Broadview Psychology, please go to: www.broadviewpsychology.com.