

Independent Psychologist - Diagnostic Assessments

Remote, Contract

Ontario, British Columbia, Quebec, Alberta, Nova Scotia

We are seeking licensed and experienced clinical psychologists to provide diagnostic assessments as independent contractors. Layla works with psychologists in private practice to offer assessments in Ontario, Quebec, Alberta, British Columbia, and Nova Scotia. Our biggest need at this time is for psychologists licensed in Ontario but feel free to apply if licensed in the other provinces we operate in. We help to complement your practice and understand that you likely went into private practice seeking more independence. We work with you to retain control and flexibility while belonging to a new community.

At Layla, our mission is to bridge the gap between wanting mental health care and getting it. We work with a diverse client base from a broad range of backgrounds, life experiences, and needs, and we are looking to expand our psychological assessments as they appear to be a much-needed service for clients.

Types of assessments

We offer psychological assessments for ADHD, mood and anxiety disorders, trauma, BPD, and health-related disorders. If you specialize in other areas we can offer those assessments as well (e.g., eating disorders, substance use disorders). You would provide basic psychodiagnostic assessments that support clients who are looking for diagnoses for purposes such as treatment planning, medication management from their GPs, or potential accommodations at work or school. The assessments involved a clinical interview and use of psychometric and screening tools (battery at your discretion). This program does not provide assessments for third-party disability applications, capacity or custody evaluations, legal or tax reasons, medical-legal assessments, or psychoeducational assessments.

Tailored collaboration

You let us know your capacity/how many assessments you would like to do per week or month. We tailor our collaboration to suit your private practice, and you retain control over your schedule and workload. There are no monthly or referral fees. You are paid a flat fee for each completed assessment and we pay for the psychometrics you choose to administer.

A new model and community

Be part of a new model to simplify clients' access to assessments. We work with compassionate and competent psychologists committed to achieving better outcomes for their clients. Layla Partner Psychologists will receive access to our Layla Therapy educational and social events,.

Basic requirements for consideration

- Licensed psychologist or psychological associate with the College of Psychologists of Ontario
- Training and experience assessing for ADHD, mood/anxiety disorders, and trauma. Psychologists able to assess for ADHD are our main need at this time.
- Professional malpractice liability insurance in place
- Comfortable using technology
- Ability to see clients online (secure platform provided by Layla)

Due to the sensitive nature of our work, Layla also requires successful completion of a background check facilitated electronically by Layla.

Apply:

Please apply here: <https://laylacare.applytojobs.ca/psychological+assessments/30120/apply>

You can also direct any questions to assessments@layla.care

At Layla, one of our core values is to promote diversity. We welcome applications from a broad range of candidates including those with non-traditional backgrounds as well as non-Canadian experience. If you're unsure about your qualifications for this position, we'd still encourage you to apply.

Layla welcomes applications from candidates with differing abilities. Please let us know if you require accommodation at any stage in the selection process.

If you are identified as a successful applicant, the Layla team will contact you by email about next steps.