Psychologist / Psychological Assessment– Psychoeducational & ADHD Assessments (Children, Adolescents & Adults)

InnerKind / Beaches Therapy Group

Midtown Toronto | In-Person Assessments

Beaches Therapy Group is a well-established psychology practice in Toronto with three clinic locations and a large interdisciplinary team of therapists and mental health professionals. We are currently in the process of rebranding to InnerKind, a name that reflects our broader vision of integrated mental health and wellness services while continuing the strong clinical foundation of Beaches Therapy Group.

As part of our continued growth, we are launching a new InnerKind Assessment & Neurodevelopmental Program at our Midtown clinic and are seeking a Psychologist to conduct psychoeducational and ADHD assessments for children, adolescents, and adults. Candidates with experience in just one of these populations are also welcome to apply.

This role offers the opportunity to join a collaborative, interdisciplinary clinical environment while helping develop a new assessment service within an established and highly respected practice.

About the Role

The psychologist will conduct comprehensive psychoeducational and ADHD assessments for children, adolescents, and adults. These assessments will focus on understanding cognitive functioning, learning profiles, attention concerns, and emotional factors that may impact academic, occupational, and developmental outcomes.

Responsibilities include:

- conducting diagnostic and developmental intake interviews
- administering and interpreting cognitive and academic assessments
- integrating behavioural and developmental data
- preparing comprehensive written assessment reports
- providing feedback sessions to clients and families
- collaborating with therapists within the clinic to support treatment planning

As the assessment program grows, we plan to add psychometrist support to assist with test administration and scoring, allowing psychologists to focus primarily on clinical formulation, interpretation, and feedback.

Flexible Caseload

While the primary focus of this role will be psychoeducational and ADHD assessments, there is also the opportunity to develop a flexible caseload mix of assessments and therapy, depending on the clinician's interests and preferred balance.

Many psychologists choose to combine assessment work with therapy, and we welcome candidates who would like to maintain a portion of their practice providing therapy to children, adolescents, adults, or families within our clinic.

Established Referral Network

This assessment program will serve clients across all three of our Toronto clinic locations, creating a strong internal referral base from our existing team of therapists.

In addition, the clinic maintains established relationships with families, schools, physicians, and community providers throughout the GTA.

Our administrative and marketing teams provide support with:

- referral development and outreach
- scheduling and client coordination
- billing and administrative processes

This allows clinicians to focus primarily on high-quality clinical work rather than practice management.

Leadership & Growth Opportunity

As this is a new service offering within the clinic, there is an opportunity for the successful candidate to play a role in shaping the development of the assessment program.

For psychologists interested in program development, this role may evolve into a leadership position within the InnerKind Assessment Center, including opportunities to contribute to:

- development of assessment protocols and standards
  - mentorship of future clinicians or psychometrists
  - interdisciplinary programming and educational initiatives within the clinic

Compensation

This position is offered on a contractor basis with a competitive fee split and other incentives.

The clinic provides:

- office space and testing infrastructure
  - administrative support
  - established referral network
  - marketing and outreach support
  - a collaborative professional environment

Qualifications

Applicants must:

- be registered or eligible for registration with the College of Psychologists and Behaviour Analysts of Ontario (CPBAO)
- have training and experience conducting psychoeducational or ADHD assessments
- be comfortable administering and interpreting common standardized instruments (e.g., WISC, WIAT, BASC, Conners, BRIEF)
- demonstrate strong clinical reasoning and report writing skills

Psychologists with experience working with children, adolescents, and adults are encouraged to apply. Early career psychologists are also welcome to apply.

About InnerKind / Beaches Therapy Group

Our clinics provide therapy and psychological services to individuals, couples, children, and families across Toronto. We are committed to thoughtful, evidence-based care and a collaborative professional culture.

The development of the InnerKind Assessment & Neurodevelopmental Program represents an exciting next step in expanding our ability to support individuals and families navigating learning differences, attention challenges, and developmental concerns.
