

Private Practice Opportunity in Victoria, BC

Vancouver Island Psychological Services (VIPS) is a busy and growing private psychology practice with two locations in Victoria, BC. Our team includes more than 20 psychologists and mental health professionals providing assessment and treatment services to children, adolescents, and adults.

We are currently seeking doctoral-level psychologists to join our team as associates.

We welcome applications from clinicians working in any area of psychology, including psychotherapy, assessment, rehabilitation, health psychology, neuropsychology, child and adolescent services, and adult mental health. Given the breadth of referrals received by our practice, psychologists have the opportunity to develop a caseload that aligns with their interests, expertise, and professional goals.

We are enthusiastic about working with both experienced and early-career psychologists. Supervision is available at no cost to clinicians pursuing registration with the College of Health and Care Professionals of BC.

What We Offer:

- Strong and diverse referral streams supporting a full caseload
- Flexible scheduling and autonomy in shaping your practice
- Collegial and collaborative team environment
- Comprehensive administrative support, including intake, scheduling, billing, and client communications
- Access to a full assessment test library, psychometry services, and peer consultation
- Modern office space across two Victoria locations
- Competitive compensation, with potential annual earnings exceeding $175,000 based on full-time clinical hours

Victoria offers an exceptional quality of life, with easy access to the ocean, forests, and mountains, a vibrant arts and food scene, and a pace of living that supports both professional growth and personal balance.

For more information or to express interest, please contact: For more information or to express interest, please contact: Dr. Patrick Corney, Clinic Co-Director (pcorney@vipsychology.ca).